

Paramount -
My Bloody Val.

Friday, November 28th, 1980

MEMO TO: JOHN DUNNING
ANDRE LINK
STEPHEN MILLER

FROM: IRENE

For your information, the following are the five gentlemen from Paramount that visited us for the screening of "MY BLOODY VALENTINE" along with their functions:

1. Frank Mancuso - President of Distribution - distinguishing feature - "shrewd shark"
2. Paul Bluhdorn - Production Acquisition - distinguishing feature - "with all that money, looks like a real nerd"
3. Don Lafontaine - Trailer creator - distinguishing feature - "small, nice looking man"
4. Eddy Kalish - - Marketing and Advertising - distinguishing feature - "tall, Afro, late 20's, early 30's".
5. Marty Kutner - In charge of sales - distinguishing feature - "heavy, smokes alot, and looks like a shmata salesman".

I suggest you study these invaluable descriptions and make sure that this list is destroyed before you walk into Paramount.